"I'VE NEVER BEEN SLIMMER SINCE MY WEDDING DAY!"

And Eairrin has never been more confident of her newfound figure after losing 9 kg and 36 inches.

Ever since her wedding day, Eairrin's weight had been on the increase due to her unhealthy eating habit. The greasy food she loved before bedtime resulted in unsightly flabby arms, wide hips and huge thighs. Eairrin finally decided to seek professional help when her own efforts of exercising and consuming meal replacement drinks failed to yield satisfactory results.

As a Marie France Bodyline's spokesperson, Eairrin went through the Cryocelle Phased Therapy, which utilises a specially formulated Hot & Cold serum containing lipolytic active ingredients and therapeutic heat rays to help increase fat metabolism – leaving her svelte and shapely in no time.

"I'm so glad to have a husband who supported me all the way. Being a Marie France Bodyline's spokesperson truly transformed me. I've lost a total of 9 kg and 36 inches overall!"

No diet. No exercise. No pills. Eairrin proves that Marie France Bodyline's advanced technology and expertise really works. You can be a living proof too!

LONDON™
WEIGHT MANAGEMENT

Healthy LOSS of 52.6kg

"I couldn't do anything about my ballooning weight. I shunned away from people. My nicknames were 'water buffalo' and 'big truck'.
I went to a doctor, who prescribed some appetite suppressants, which I took for about a year. It didn't work at all. There was once when a doctor even asked me if I was satisfied with the way I looked. If I was happy with it, then that's good enough. If a certified medical personnel would say something as such, was there any hope left for me?
However, I'm now a lot prettier and I can live confidently!"

- Andrina Tan, 28 years old
(A London Weight Management success story)

Tests begin on 'bionic eye' for humans

SYDNEY: Australian researchers developing a "bionic eye" say early tests have succeeded in stimulating limited visual sensation in people suffering a rare form of genetic blindness.

Scientists from the Bionic Eye Foundation at Sydney's Prince of Wales Hospital have launched human clinical trials of the device, which employs the same technology now routinely used in cochlear implants to restore hearing.

Professor Minas Coroneo said the trials involved placing small electrodes on the surface of the eye, then using an electric current to stimulate the retina, the thin layer of cells in the back of the eye that respond to light.

Coroneo said a video camera attached to a pair of glasses was used to pick up images and transfer them to the electrodes via a computer.

The electrodes then stimulate the retina to send messages down the optic nerve to the visual area of the brain.

While it does not offer full sight, Coroneo said it could one day provide blind people with enough "functional vision" to negotiate their way across a room without bumping into objects.

Another researcher Vivek Chowdhury said: "The stimulation achieved so far is extremely limited, but it was enough to spark a tearful response from my first successful patient when she saw a single spot of light after years of darkness."

> "The stimulation achieved so far is extremely limited, but it was enough to spark a tearful response from my first successful patient when she saw a single spot of light after years of darkness"
> – researcher Vivek Chowdhury

"It's a combination of excitement and surprise and shock, it's quite scary to be seeing these things that they haven't seen before," Chowdhury told ABC television.

Coroneo said the prototype bionic eye was a low-risk device for patients because it sat on the eye's surface and did not require invasive surgery.

He said it was an exciting development for people suffering conditions such as retinitis pigmentosa, a genetic condition where the retina's cells gradually die but the optic nerve survives. – AFP

Rev Wong ... 'we want to pray that Malaysia will enjoy economic sufficiency, social peace, public justice and national righteousness'

100,000 to do some good for the nation

By CHRISTINA LOW
christinalow@thestar.com.my

IN conjunction with National Day celebrations, about 100,000 Christians from 500 churches nationwide will fast and pray for the country from July 22 to Aug 31.

The event, organised by the National Evangelical Christian Fellowship (NECF) Malaysia and themed "Lighting Up Our Nation", is unique and has different prayer contents.

In comparison with other years, NECF Malaysia secretary-general Rev Wong Kim Kong said they would be focusing on a transformed nation.

"We want to pray that Malaysia will experience and enjoy economic sufficiency, social peace, public justice and national righteousness," said Rev Wong.

During the 40 days, each participant is encouraged to skip at least a meal according to his or her preference.

The money saved from the meal will be put into a small box given to them.

The money collected from the participants will then be channelled to NECF for distribution to various charitable purposes.

"Everyday, we will designate our prayers to a ministry, a state and also the ministers associated with it," said Rev Wong.

He said this was one of the most important responsibilities in the Christian community.

"It is stated in the Bible that we should pray for the rulers and those in authority.

"This year we hope to use the money collected to help not only the Christians but the non Christians as well," said Rev Wong

Children are also encouraged to take part in the fasting and pray for the nation.

For details, contact NECF Malaysia which is located at 32, Jalan SS2/103, Petaling Jaya at 03-7727 8227.

Dream degree his at 49

By ELAN PERUMAL
elan@thestar.com.my

BETTER late than never. That's the message that teacher Kuppusamy Manickam hopes he is sending out to his students by obtaining his law degree at the age of 49.

The discipline master at SM Sultan Abdul Samad, Petaling Jaya, realised his long-cherished dream when he received his degree during University Malaya's convocation ceremony recently.

As a part-time student, Kuppusamy took five years to complete his Bachelor of Jurisprudence programme.

"Obtaining a degree may be nothing great these days but it's a great feeling for me especially since I've had to make all kinds of sacrifices since I started on the programme.

"It was not easy especially when you have to juggle between your job, studies and family," he said.

Looking back on the last five years, he said he had spent minimal time with his family and had missed out on so many family gatherings for fear he would be distracted from his studies.

"I am thankful that my wife and children have been very supportive and understanding throughout the whole period," he added.

Present to share his graduation joy that day were his wife Catherine Arokiasamy, daughter Sandrasubathra, 16, and son, Markkaviarasan, 15.

Kuppusamy, who has been teaching at SM Sultan Abdul Samad for 22 years, said he had no intention of quitting the teaching profession.

"Studying for the degree has broadened my scope of knowledge and I hope to be a better teacher now.

"I will continue to teach and probably venture into lecturing once I retire from school," he said, adding that teaching was in his blood and he had always wanted to be involved in the academic development of the students.

For now, all he wants to do is make up for lost time with his family.

Toto strikes again

Bobby Kimball left Toto back in 1984, but says he kept trying to recreate its vibe in his solo career, writes SUJIN THOMAS.

YOU can check out any time, but you can never leave – goes the line in the immortal song Hotel California by American rockers the Eagles.

Those words hold a deeper and more real meaning for singer Bobby Kimball, 59, of fellow veteran rock band Toto, which will perform at Fort Canning Park in Singapore on May 16.

On the line from his home in Los Angeles, he cited the lyrics to describe his rooted desire to remain with the band which he left at the end of 1984.

Nearly 13 years later in 1998, he found himself back as its frontman of a group which gave the world such hits as Rosanna (1982) and I'll Be Over You (1986).

"I was asked to go. It was due to whatever reason you can imagine, such as drugs and so forth," he says with a distinct Texan drawl to his otherwise Californian accent.

"I'm not going to elaborate on that. Everyone was doing it."

Meanwhile, Kimball pursued a solo career in Germany and released four albums. But he soon found his true calling to be with Toto after being asked to join the band again.

"Everything I did was in search of that Toto feeling," he says.

Cementing his role in the band, he adds: "I'm sure when they were changing singers, they were looking for someone who sounded like me because I was there for the original hits."

Toto was formed in 1977 by high school buddies Lukather, Paich, brothers Steve and Jeff Porcaro and David Hungate. They have released over 14 albums to date.

Their highest career point came in 1983 with their Grammy-winning album Toto IV which carried hits like Africa and Rosanna.

Then in 1992, on the eve of their Kingdom Of Desire tour, tragedy struck when Jeff Porcaro died of a heart attack after an allergic reaction to a pesticide he was spraying in his garden.

But the band played on. Today, their line-up is tight both in its technical skills and on an inter-personal level.

Organised by concert promoter LAMC Productions, their gig in Singapore is part of their Falling In Between World Tour which will also see performances in countries like Thailand, Indonesia and Australia.

Last in Singapore in 2004, they are currently touring to promote their latest and first studio album in four years entitled Falling In Between.

Toto's other current members include drummer Simon Phillips, bassist Mike Porcaro and new addition keyboardist Greg Phillinganes.

Paich no longer tours with the band due a high blood pressure problem.

However, Kimball lets on that they still have arguments while on the road, more recently, on the European leg of their tour just a few weeks back.

Without going into details on the incident which he calls "an uprising" he says: "There will always be those. These are not just people you spend time on the road with. They can also affect your business life. So everything is made better by airing it out."

As for their concert in Singapore, Kimball says fans should expect some surprises such as a re-arrangement of their classic hit Rosanna.

"It will be everything you wouldn't expect. Our show will come out screaming." – The Straits Times Singapore / Asia News Network
